Economic determinants and analysis of the European Union wood. The EU furniture industry is a dynamic and labour-intensive sector with a long history. The EU furniture manufacturing industry makes a significant contribution to the European economy and is a major sector in terms of employment and value added. The EU furniture industry includes a wide range of products and services, from traditional furniture manufacturing to modern design and mass production. The industry is characterized by a high degree of competitiveness and innovation, with a strong focus on sustainability and energy efficiency. The EU furniture industry benefits from a strong research and development sector, which is constantly seeking new materials and technologies to improve product performance and durability. The industry is also subject to a range of regulations and standards, including those related to health and safety, energy efficiency, and environmental protection. The EU furniture industry is a key driver of sustainable growth in the European Union, and its success is closely tied to the economic, social, and environmental policies of the EU.
production and trade of tropical timber and the official opinion of the European Commission. 5.4 Factors with negative impacts on the EU's consumption of wood products from VPA partner countries. European Union Furniture Outlook - PR Newswire. 2.5 International trade of furniture is growing. 28. 2.6 The EU in the global context. 31. 2.6.1 European furniture manufacturing is performing better than other CROATIAN WOOD INDUSTRY - CLUSTERS, COMPETITIVENESS. On 27 June 2018, EU ambassadors endorsed the provisional agreement. On 15 June 2018, the European Organisation of the Sawmill Industry (EOS) The event was hosted by the EOS Member Treindustrien (Norwegian Wood Industry. eu furniture industry our contribution to the new eu political - TMF Keywords: forest sector, wood-based panels, furniture, wood supply chain, Occupational structures across 25 EU countries: the importance of industry